"To the Hon. R. Carter Scott, Judge of the Circuit Court of Henrico County:

self and any others in his office, beg leave to report:

"It appears from the evidence that W. J. Todd, late treasurer, applied taxes collected by him, in part and in excess of his commissions, in his personal use and in his private business, that he loaned same, to sundry individuals on his personal account and responsibility; that he placed a portion of such funds in bank at interest and collected or claimed such interest as his personal property; and that he used funds belonging to the county to overpay the State of Virginia on account of State taxes which had not been paid and became delinquent apparently with the object of realizing personally the benefit when such taxes were paid later of the 5 per centiquality for non-payment within the time required by law; and that on actime required by law, and that on account of such use of the funds a defi-clt of $25,354.39 was found at the time of his death.

"We find, however, that said treasurer had at no time failed to pay over funds of the county as required by warrents of the Board of Supervisors nor to pay over to the State of Virginia taxes collected by him.

"We find furthermore that both the State of Virginia and the county of Henrica are secured for all funds by a valid bond far in excess of the funds in the hands of said treasurer at any one time. According to the evidence in the hands of said treasurer at any one time. According to the evidence of a representative of the surety company (which was confirmed by the administrator of the estate of the deceased treasurery and also by the appraisal of the dassets of the said estate, as required by law), such assets largely exceed the above deficit, which will be paid by the administrator, and if not so paid, the surety company will meet any remaining deficit.

"We believe from the evidence before us that the late treasurer had no wrongful intent in handling the funds as he did, but on the contrary thought he was within his legal rights. In conclusion, however, your grand jury desires to place on record its decided opinion that the use of public funds by any official for any other purpose than that fixed by law constitutes a time the whole country round about, was lighted by the glow.

PARISH SCHOOL BURNS. Emanuel Episcopal School-house

A young man by the name of Tiller was the first to discover the flames. He immediately turned in the alarm and the meighbors responded vallantly, but could accomplish little, as the fire had already gained too much headway.

The huliding was the property of the Emanuel Episcopal Church. It was given to the county as a public school house by the late Major Lewis Gliner, and later sold to the Emanuel parish. The huliding was covered by insurance to the amount of $2,000.

It is generally believed that the fire must have been of incendiary bright. It is stated that there was no fire in the building at all, and the flame must have been communicated from the outside, some declaring that the work was done by tramps.

Mr. Jeffries has kindly tendered the use of a building near the Brook slow, for the use of the school until the one downed can be rebuild.

Distinguished Jurist Tells of Interesting Municipal Ownership Cituation in Chicago.

war Judge Tree settled in Chicago and has distinguished himself both in law and in business. He was judge of the United States District Court for many years, was minister to Belgium and ambassador jo Russia. He has always been an ardent Democrat of the good old Judge Tree studied law at the Uni-

He has recently pald a visit to the University, and yesterday expressed himself as delighted with the development and beautifying of the place. In looking over a catalogue of his fellow students he found that Colonel Archer Anderson, one of them, was close to him at the Jefferson Hotel, and he went in to renew his youthful acquaintance. He inquired after Mr. T. C. Elder, of Staunton, who was also a fellow law student.

Municipal Ownership.

As the question of municipal owner-ship has been recently agitating Chicago a reporter of The Times-Dispatch called upon Judge Tree to got his views on the subject. The Judge was asked: "Was the adoption of the Mueller law by the people of Chicago at the last election an endorsement of municipal ownership."

ownership."
And he replied:
"There were three questions submitted to the people by way of referendum for their votes. One was: 'Shall the city own street railways'' another,
'Shall the city own and operate the street railways'' the third, 'Shall the city be authorized to Issue $75,000,000 of certificates under what is known as the Mueller lan'."

Mueller law?

"At the campaign, which preceded the election the advectes of municipal ownership pressed for an affirmative answer on all three of these questions. Mayor Dunne, who had been elected a year before mayor of the city on a platform of immediate municipal ownership, made a most energetic campaign, in which he spoke constantly several times a night in favor of the adoption of these three propositions, and he eas assisted and backed up by all the other advocates of municipal ownership, who were untes of municipal ownership, who were very loud and bolsterous in their de-"On counting the ballots after the

The proposition authorizing the city to issue the Mueller certificates was also endorsed by a very narrow majority, I think about 3,000 or 4,000.

Whole Subject in the Air.

Whole Subject in the Air.

"The result of the election puts the whole subject of the management and operation of street railways in the air, because, while the city is authorized to own. It is forbidden to operate street railways. So far as the Muciler certificates are concerned under the linuitiestes are concerned under the linuitiestes are concerned under the linuitiestes to raise the money to purchase the existing street railways; that is, their roiling stock, their trackage, their nower houses, etc., but the Muciler certificates involve no personal liability of the city.

"They simply constitute a lien on the property purchased, the holder of the certificates being secured by a mortgage on the property of the street yallways, to which alone he must look for the payment of his holdings. The law 'taciffe generally understood to be very difference of the Common Council based upon the Mueller law so-called, authorizing the issuance of $75,000,000 of certificates, is also supposed to be as full of holes as a skimmer.

"There is great doubt as to the validity of the Mueller certificates, but even if valid it is questionable whether they very marketable investment, because it has no general liability of the city to back it, and must rest entirely upon the special security of the street car properities, and if the holders of these certificates should be compelled to resort to the property by reason of the propayment of the interest upon them, it means the return into private hands of these properties, which the city has taken much pains and been involved in sq much expense to take out of private bandsass, that the return into private hands of these properties, which the city has taken much pains and been involved in sq much expense to take out of private bandsass, that the prospect is not vary brilliant for being alle to raise any money upon the certificates. Pendulum Swinging Other Way.

"Another interesting feature of the clear."

"Harlan, the Republican candidate, candidate, however, outheroded Herod in supporting immediate municipal ownership, having become convinced that the people would be carried away by the clamor of owning their own transportation facilities. The position which Harlan took, being identical with that of Dunne, left no choice for the elector who was opposed to municipal ownership of quanticipal utilities, and it appears from the returns that $5,000 persons who registered did not yote. Of the three propositions of which I have spoken, two of them were carried by yery narrow majorities, 2,000 or 4,000, and the principal one, that of authorizing the city to operate street railways was overwhelmingly beaten.
